THE DAY AT THE NATION'S CAPITAL.

A Georgian Appointed-Others Who Haven't Been Will Have a Good While to Wait.

Washington, April 25 .- (Special.)-The outward movement of gold continues. Today $3,200,000 went out, of which $2,000,-(w) was drawn from the subtreasury today, the rest having been taken out last Friday and Saturday. But for the offerings of the Boston and western banks the gold re-serve would be depleted over two millions of dollars. These banks advanced $6,000,-000, $5,000,000 of it from Boston, so that the reserve remains intact with about four millions of free gold.

It is now evident and admitted that the country was dangerously near a financial panic last week. The payment of treasury notes in silver would have been the signal The continued payment of them in gold and President Cleveland's emphatic statement published yesterday morning that their payment in gold would be continued, have served to relieve the tension and have, in a large measure, restored public confidence, though the money market remains stiff and all danger is not averted.

Conferences have been held between Subtreasurer Jordan and the presidents of the national banks of New York. Secretary Carlisle is very anxious to have them come to the relief of the treasury as the Boston and western banks have done-that is, turn their gold into the treasury and take greenbacks for it. This they did to a limited extent last February.

They declare that they cannot do so . They insist that the government issue fifty millions of bonds for a specific period, so as to make them market-able and that half of them shall be placed in Europe so as to fetch back some of the gold shipped from this country; the New York banks would take the other half. It is believed by them that this step would tide the government over until the season of exports begins again and the balance of trade turns in our favor.

The New York banks made a proposition to Secretary Carlisle which was rejected; then he made one to the banks which they rejected. The banks then made a counter proposition, which was considered at the cabinet meeting today and declined. The secretary declines to state the precise nature of these various propositions, but the banks stand pat on their demands for marketable bonds. Another point gained is the knowledge that the administration is not implacably opposed to a bond issue. It is, however, improbable that bonds will be issued, save as a last resort to maintain all classes of government obligations at Postmaster General Bissell and his assistants are struggling with the usual problem how to get through the fiscal year with the growing demands of the postal service on the meager appropriations made outside of the salaries of postmasters, which are fixed by law, is that for clerks in postoffices, and the strain to meet the demand from the 65,000 postoffices of the country is something enormous. The increase in the appropriation this year over last was $300,000, but applications for assistance aggregating $2,000,000 were on file at the department when the year began. Chicago alone asked for half the increased appropriation and New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore were not far behind her. The increase for the next fiscal year in ppropriation appears on its face to be $500,000, but $50,000 is knocked out of this to pay for canceling machines, for which a separate appropriation was asked. The allowance for the third-class offices has also been increased $20,000 and now stands at $620,000. These increases of about 3 per cent are only half the average increase of the postal business of the country, which of late years has been nearly double that of the population. Mr. Albert H. Scott, who has charge of these allowances for office expenses, has only succeeded in making absolutely essential grants for the remaining few months of the present fiscal year by canceling contracts for rental and moving the postoffices as rapidly as possible into new government buildings. The appropriation for the free delivery service has been increased $500,000 each of the past two years, which is a little less than 5 per cent, the last appropriation being $11,254,900. This appropriation is likely to prove inadequate for a proper service, because of the great increase of expenses caused by the carriers' eight-hour law and the recent decision of the supreme court as to the interpretation of the law.

Seth Shepard, the Texas lawyer who was appointed one of the associate justices of the new court of appeals of this district, has dabbled in politics more or less ever since he arrived at the voting age. As a political race horse, however, he belongs to the class which alwas run just fast enough to come in second. He did serve one term as state sen-stances. He was then living at Brenham, Washington county, which before the war had been the richest county in Texas. After the war it had a heavy republican or negro (the two words are practically synonomous in Texas as in Georgia) majority. The candidates for the senate were Shepard, democrat, and Matt Gaines, republican, a small and very black negro—the kind known in the Texas vernacular of that time as "a ator, getting the seat under peculiar circum-

little bullet-headed nigger." Gaines was elected. Shepard contested. There was no doubt as to the way the election had gone, but Gaines was charged with bigamy. It seems that he had a wife in the days of slavery and after the war had married another remeating into another woman. This was construed into bigamy by the state senate. Gaines was pronounced ineligible, and, instead of ordering a new election, the senate gave the seat to Shepard. Shepard was afterward nominated for congress, but was beaten by old Wash Jones, a greenbacker.

A Michigan Story. A case "somewhat similar but different arose in Michigan after the election of 1890, when the state went democratic for the first time in many years. The state senate remained republican by reason of the holdorers, standing eighteen republicans to four-teen democrats. The latter had the lieutenant governor, the presiding officer. One day the republicans attended the races in a body.

Emma Juch's Singers Attack Manager Locke They Were Due Their Salaries.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 25 .- A lively tilt occurred between the members of the Auton Seidle and the Emma Juch Concert Company and their manager, Locke, just as they were leaving the city at an early hour. The cause was the non-payment of the salaries due to the artists. The company appeared here last night to a small audience, and after the performance a small audience, and after the performance the members went to the union station to take the Atlantic express for the east. When Manager Locke appeared there was a great demand for back salaries. The singers, male and female, finally became demonstrative and attacked Mr. Locke with their umbrellas. He was receiving rough treatment when the night officer of the station interposed and peace was patched up by promises to produce when the next stop was made.

Seven bodies have already been recovered. The wildest rumors as to the the number of persons killed and injured are afloat and intense excitement prevails, as many of the persons known to have been on the train are residents of Somerset or have relatives living here.

THE RELEAST RIOTS

Belfast, April 25 .- The rioting in the streets continued late this afternoon and early this evening. Repeated encounters between the Orangemen and police resulted in twenty arrests. While the police were taking their prisoners to the station, the rioters surrounded them twice and tried to liberate the men but were diven back after har clubbing. Many rioters were in jured. Later the crowd packed Peters Hill for blocks and refused to budge for the charges, called for the aid of the military, Two companies of infantry responded and cleared the streets with fixed bayonets. Five of the persons who were arrested for having been engaged in the riotous scenes of yesterday were convicted today in the local court and sntenced to pay fines.

About two weeks ago, a man, who said he was a United States marshal, called on Under Sheriff Goodale, at Newburgh, and asked for "Austin," who, he said, was wanted in New York for slippery work. He wore a shield and had a warrant and "Austin" was turned over to him. It has just transpired that the pretended marshal was an accomplice of the buncoer, and that the warrant was a forgery.

THE GREAT NAVAL PARADE AS IT WILL BE SEEN FROM THE HEIGHTS TODAY. From a Sketch Based on the Official Orders and on Information Furnished by the Sec retary of the Navy.

The democrats met as usual and had things their own way. They promptly unseated two republicans and seated two contesting democrats in their stead. They also elected democratic officers. Of course there wasn't a quorum, but there was nobody there to make the point of order and the programme went through all straight and regular.

When the republicans found in what manner their temporary absence had been taken advantage of, they were wild with wrath, but as the presiding officer was against them they could do nothing but swear. One of the men seated by the democrats was an old fellow by the name of Fridlander, from the upper peninsula. The republicans had his record looked up and found that some thirty or forty years before he had lived with an Indian woman, a squaw. Later, as they discovered, he had married a white woman. That was enough. The republicans laid their plans to have him arrested for bigamy one morning just as the senate was about to meet, and then while he was absent by compulsion they proposed to reseat their men and re-elect their officers. In some way old Fridlander learned that trouble was going to be made over his In-dian "wife" and he went to a democratic lawyer and laid the case before him for advice. The lawyer looked into and said: "This case doesn't amount to anything. Why should this squaw, after keeping quiet so many years, now try to give the old man trouble? Evidently there is something back of this which does not appear on the sur-

He sent for the democratic leaders in the senate and laid the case and his suspicions before them. After a good deal of speculation they hit on the idea that it was a republican trick to give them a majority so that they could undo the work of the democrats ac-complished in their absence. How to block the game was then the question. They hit on the device of having the old man arrested by a democratic officer on some trumped up charge, because so long as he was under ar-rest by one officer of the law he could not be taken out of his custody by another of-

This plan was put in operation and Frid-lander was kept in friendly custody until the end of the session. The republicans were foiled and the democrats retained their con-stitutional majority. And Fridlander was never arrested for bigamy.

Secretary Carlisle's Proposition.

New York; April 25.—Today was considered an off day by the subtreasury officials in this city, as no gold was engaged for export and there was less fuss and furry observable. Briefly stated, the construction put upon Mr. Carlisle's proposition to the New York bankers yesterday is understood to have been this: He wished to know whether they would lend the government $50,000,000 gold for one year, from May 1st, the loan to be secured by ten-year government 5 per cent bonds, to be issued at 117 1-2, which would be equivalent to a 3 per cent bond. The terms of this proposition were that the bonds were to be piaced in trust with the secretary of the treasury or the subtreasury and as the banks turned in the gold, certificates were to be issued to them at par. At the end of the year the government was to have the option of paying for the gold with 3 per cent interest. If the government could not pay the loan in gold at the end of the year, then the banks were to surrender their certificates and take the amount of bonds to which they were entitled at 117 1-2.

The answer of the banks was that their gold was held in their reserve required by Secretary Carlisle's Proposition.

The answer of the banks was that their gold was held in their reserve required by law and that if surrendered for bonds law and that if surrendered for bonds, which were not current money, it would have to be replaced in other money, which would mean that they would have to call in loans to an equal amount. The result would be a very stringent money market and perhaps a panic. What the bankers are willing to do, although they have not made the direct offer, is: They will turn over $50,000,000 in gold to the treasury, if it will issue in exchange certificates or notes bearing 21-2 per cent interest, which can be used as money. The certificates should be the same as the old clearing house certificates Issued against collateral, which in this instance, would be gold.

Next came the Italian vessels Aetna and Bausan, and the Brazilian squadron Ahuidabahi, Tiradentes and Republica. As the Philadelphia in the lead nears the Sandy Hook light at 10:50 o'clock the fog whistle of the lightship gave a series of welcomes to its arrival, but the big. whit flagship swung round in majestic si lence and crossing the bar and entering Gendey's channel set the pace at a good ten and a half knots an hour, the Newark following close in her wake, and the Atlanta the regulation distance behind. Once fairly in the channel; the Phladelphia signaled the fleet to proceed without refer ence to formation. The vessels of the star board column slowed down and allowed all the American fleet to round the lightship first. Then the Blake and the other Brit ishers followed, safely crossing the bar be fore flood tide, 3:37 o'clock squadrons of each column alternating un til all had safely rounded and entered the channel, then the big guns of the Miantanomah boomed a welcome, but the hook was passed in silence. The leading vessels of the fleet turned to the southwest spit about 2:45 o'clock and entered the main ship channel. It was still raining, but the weather was not sufficiently bad to impair the movements of the ships. The Philadelphia slackened speed to about eight knots, so as to allow the other vessels to catch up and the entire fleet proceeded in single file and in silence up the bay to the anchoring grounds, which Captain Rogers and his aides had selected. Despitethe obscurny of the weather, the procession was exceedingly beautiful.

Saluting Each Other. Gravesend bay was reached at 3:30 o'clock and the Philadelphia opened the salute by firing fifteen guns in honor of the Russian admiral and his flagship, the band on board the Philadelphia playing the Russian national air. The Russian promptly acknowledged the salute.

At 3:30 o'clock the Philadelphia fired one gun as a signal to come to anchor and the Newark passed the signal to the other vessels of the squadron, which instantly hove to.

the Newark passed the signal to the other vessels of the squadron, which instantly hove to.

A fleet of guard boats under Captain Rogers, kept the anchorage ground clear, while numberless yachts and tugboats and crowded excursion steamers circled around as close as permitted. It was exactly 3:45 o'clock when the Philadelphia let go her anchor right off Craven shoal buoy and swung round with the strong flood tide with her nose pointing for Sandy Hook. The instant the Philadelphia let go her anchor the Associated Press correspondents on board the flagship transferred to their colleagues on the special tug their story of the trip, which is here subjoined.

The voyage of 270 miles from Fortress Monroe to the anchorage was a most delightful one. A wagon load of bluecoats met the train at Sixty-first street. They found Conductor Brown and his brakeman imprisoned in the baggage car, while two hundred Zulus has possession of the train. The miners suspected Ingle of tearing them down. Sunday night as Ingle was walking down the railroad track, he was shot and killed. They attempted to reach the stairway to the door below, but it was ablaze and impossible. This fact saved their lives and prevented their sharing the fate of the men at the front door. The walls, shaken and already enfeebled by the heat, began to crumble. It seemed as though the men at the window must be swept away with the crash, but after the dust had cleared away, they were but by Marshal Townsend's order the hook and ladder companies ran up their ladders and seizing the fainting men bore them to the ground badly burned, but without

GOLD IS COMING IN.

Soston Bankers Come to Secretary Carlisle's Washington, April 25.-The net gold in the treasury this morning over and above the $100,000,000 gold reserve, is $900,000. This accounts for the gold taken from the New York subtreasury for export today; also for the gold offered and accepted from the Boston bankers. It does not, however, include the gold which was offered to the government from San Francisco and Roa-noke, Va. These amounts will appear in treasury figures when the actual exchange is made.

Secretary Carlisle is much encouraged at what he terms the patriotic position taken

The reverend gentleman's story corroborates like tales by many other reputable people. The mysterious ghostess has been seen many times, always at night, and always robed in black. If the apparition is the work of a practical joker, he has certainly succeeded wonderfully in escaping detection, as several parties of young men have been formed to probe the secret. But when they saw the sable-draped spook they weakened, and before they could brace up she was gone. The facts as known agree. On their explanation rests the peace of mind of the timid people of the town, and on their solution the pluck and sagacity of the skeptical, who so far have made no headway in explaining the mystery over which Flast Tennessee is wondering.

Many prominent citizens were present and the hall was filled with persons of all classes. Among the speakers was ex-Governor Rich-ardson, who said that he had always believed that the doctrines enunciated by the Tilled that the doctrines enunciated by the Inf-man administration were of such a charac-ter as must eventually lead to the disregard of law. He charged Governor Tillman with recognizing the validity of lynch law and concluded by saying: "God grant that such rulers shall cease to be in South Carolina." (Loud applause.)

Solicitor Jowery said that if he presided over the Denmark circuit he would indict the lynchers and would name B. R. Tillman as accessory before the act. (Applause "And in my argument before the jury," said he, "I am very much mistaken if I did not show that he was more responsible than any of them." (Applause.)

Speeches were also made by Colonel John C. Haskell and W. A. Clark. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted: We, the citizens of Columbia, in mass meet-ing assembled, do adopt the following resolu-

Washington, April 25.—The week ending the 24th has been unusually cold, except in southern Texas and the extreme southern portions of Florida and California. damage has been reported from frost in Arkansas, Tennessee and North Carolina. The cold weather is reported as unfavorable in the cotton region, where, in some sections, replanting of cotton was necessary. There is a scarcity of seed in several of the states. This is the second week of excessive rain over the principal wheat states. Mississippl—Frosts on the 21st and 22d were disastrous to cotton in the northern and middle portions. Much replanting is necessary, and a scarcity of seed will reduce the acreage. Corn, retarded; wheat, fair.

Louisiana—Weather too cold for cotton, some of which has died out and will require replanting; good planting, but bad growing week.

Texas—Cotton planting delayed over the central portion of the state on account of dry weather, but planting is completed and the plant is coming up over the eastern and southern portions, where prospects have been improved by local showers. Wheat and oats are suffering for rain, except in the Pan Handle, where the prospects are good. Tennessee—A very unfavorable week; cut worms injuring corn; tobacco plants doing nicely; early planted cotton slightly injured. Kentucky—Conditions very unfavorable and all the farm work retarded; crops making no progress.

RATHER ODD.

A Chain of Coincidences in Which a Judge Figures.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 25.—(Special.)—An odd chain of coincidences have arisen in the federal court in the case of Reynolds vs. Anna M. Watkins et. al. This is the suit brought by certain heirs of a Mrs. Reynolds to recover alleged interests in the valuable properties owned on McCallie avenue and Oak street by Mrs. Anna M. Watkins, John H. Peebles and Thomas McDermott.

Judge D. M. Key heard the present suit and decided in favor of the defendants. His decision was appealed and will, in a short time, be heard again before Judge Taft.

But to the coincidences. Judge D. M. Key was a witness to the deed by which the property in litigation was sold by a man named Lewis to Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds. Lafer he was the chancellor that heard the divorce suit brough by Mr. Reynolds against Mrs. Reynolds, who, one fine morning, shook the dust of the city of Chattanooga from her feet, and in leaving her husband without notifying him of her intent, took with her about all of the worldly goods he possessed. Reynolds was granted the divorce prayed for. The complainants in the present suit are the children of this truant wife.

It is somewhat out of the usual course of events for one judge to have so many dealings with one family in so many different suits.

This action is attacked as ilical on the ground that the bank was insolvent at the time. Mr. Lellyett placed the liabilities of the bank at $73,000, and the assets at $27,-

TO OUR DEAD HEROES

Every Patriotic Atlantian Pays Tribute Today.

HOLTZCLAW IS HERE.

He Will Speak at the Cemetery-Flowers from All Quarters of the City for the Soldiers' Graves.

Atlanta honors the memory of the lost cause today in right good style.

It will be a long time before the spirit of pride for the heroic dead of the con-federacy will fade from the hearts of patriotic Atlantians as the incidents of this day will prove.

Every indication goes to prove that it will be one of the grandest memorial days ever witnessed in Atlanta. There is general interest in it, and the military comunies were never more in full sympathy with the movement to have a grand parade than they are today. All of the new companies that have been recently formed in the city will be in the parade and the enthe Fourth Georgia Battalion will make a fine appearance in the streets. All members of the city council will ride out to the cemetery in carriages and the officers at the statehouse will likewise also be there in full force. They will all be on the platform where the speaking will take place.

General Holtzclaw Arrives. General Holtzclaw of Alabama arrived in Atlanta yesterday to make the regular address of the day at the cemetery today.

He was taken in hand by Colonel W. L. Calhoun immediately upon his arrival and taken to the Aragon, where he will be found during his stay in the city.

General Holtzclaw will make an excellent address to the people at the graves of the heroes this afternoon and everybody who can ought to go out to hear it. He is a graceful speaker and one with magic elo-

General Holtzclaw came on the vestibule train from Montgomery, arriving in Atlanta last night at 5 o'clock. He says that he will not make a long speech today, the entire address not lasting more than a half hour. He was one of the most gal-lant soldiers of the confederate army and did such daring fighting on the field that all of his old soldiers love to tell today of the thrilling incidents of his war record so brilliant.

He was a commander of the same division of the army that Colonel Calhoun served in, and the colonel remembers well how he used to keep the yankees agitated. He has been one of the leading lawyers of Alabama ever since the war, having gone back to busy work again after the war ended with a hearty zest and firm determination.

Make Your Contribution Colonel W. L. Calhoun begs to ask the people who visit the cemetery this afternoon not to forget to make a contribution to the fund that is raised every year for the purpose of keeping the graves of the soldiers clean and covered with flowers. There will be boxes at every corner in the emetery today for this purpose and it is hoped that the visitors will remember to place whatever they feel able in the boxes for the purpose of keeping the graves of these dead heroes of many battles green forever and aye.

A Perfect World of Flowers.

Mrs, John Milledge, president of the Ladies' Memerial Association, has been as busy as a bee this week looking after the work of getting flowers for the soldiers' graves. She has been assisted by many others and has received a perfect world of flowers from every quarter of the city. The Port Royal Has Been Turned Over to Him-Another Road on His Hands.

Augusta, Ga., April 25 .- (Special.)-Re-Averill is now in charge of the Port Royal and Augusta railroad. The transfer from the Central authorities took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Superintendent Moore refused Colonel Averill's first demand for the road, but after a good deal of quibbling and telegraphing between Augusta and Savannah, the Central authorities decided to turn over the road. Everything is moving along smoothly so far and reports will be made to Receiver Averill here in Augusta instead of to the Central officials in Savan

This makes Augusta again headquarters for the Port Royal road, and this city as well as Port Royal and the whole line, will be benefited accordingly. It is believed that Receiver Comer of the Central will not make any further fight for control of the Port Royal and Augusta road. I had a talk with Receiver Averill tonight. He says his policy will be to work in harmony with all lines here, and not to antagonize any road or any interest. He says there will be no change among employes of the road for the present, at least, and he does not propose to bring any new material unless absolutely neces

Why the Rate of 85 a Month for Treatment and Medicines Was Originated and Estab-lished—Their Painless, Efficient Methods—

Why They Are Envied and Have Succeeded

It has been shown in the newspapers that while the Copeland practice is not, either in intention or in fact, a money-making practice, it is, nevertheless, self-sus-taining, and affords people, all classes-rich and poor alike—the opportunity of ob-taining the best medical skill at the least possible expense.

rich and poor alike—the opportunity of obtaining the best medical skill at the least possible expense.

Another important feature of this work is presented today, and that is that it is a practice that is doing good in the community—working to the benefit of the people. By this it is meant not only that through its agency are people being cured of disease, and that hundreds are finding relief land cure here who have been turned away from all other sources whence they sought aid uncured, and in many cases as incurable; it is a work that is revolutionizing the false ideas and false prejudices that have fettered the healing art in the past—that is opening the eyes of the people and of the purpose of Dr. W. H. Copeland to maintain it and increase it on the same bask that it was built upon originally; simply to make it a self-supporting practice—a monument to his name and his efforts. Whatever benefit the public may derive from the work will be remuneration enough for him for the efforts made.

He founded his institution and carried on his work in the face of the most violent criticism from doctors who advertised and from doctors who did not advertise on the dorn doctors who did not advertise hurled all sorts of criticisms and reflections upon him and his associates because they saw that the Copeland practice was gathering to itself the lion's share of the medical work of the city. Those criticisms in the end only helped the work, and determined Dr. Copeland to con-

of the medical work of the city. These criticisms in the end only helped the work, and determined Dr. Copeland to continue it until there was not the shadow of a doubt left in the mind of any one regarding the merits and the practicability of his plan and the benefits that the public might, derive from its accomplishment.

OVER THE CEMETERY.

A Controversy Which Has Interested All the People of Macon.

THE COURT GRANTS AN INJUNCTION

Against the Mayor and the Members of the City Council.

THE STATE W. C. T. U. IN SESSION

At Macon-Yesterday's Exercises-News of the Day in the Entire City-Gossip and Personals.

Macon, Ga., April 25 .- (Special.)-Here is Macon, Ga., April 25.—(Special.)—Here is a surprise for the people of Macon.

Proceedings may be instituted in court to enjoin the mayor and council of the city of Macon from selling lots for burial purposes in the new addition to Rose Hill cemetery, known as Cabaniss Ridge. This new addition has just been laid off into lots and the place has been terraced and beautified in many ways. It has been graded and walks and drives have been made. The new addition tains about 2,000 lots. The sale of these lots commenced yesterday and quite a number were disposed of. Now this sale may be enjoined. The new addition lies just outside of the cemetery gates, and extends from the gates to the roadway in front, and along by the cemetery fence towards the soldiers graves and Ocmulgee river. The proposed en-joiners hold that by the laws of the city this reserve land can't be sold for burial purposes.

About $1,000 has already been expended in laying off, beautifying and preparing Cabaniss Ridge for burial lots. The city council recently passed a resolution authorizing I. J. Dinkler, chairman of the cemetery committee, to go forward with the work of making the new addition and he has been very zealous in his efforts, aided by City Eu-gineer Hendricks. It was intended that the money advanced by the city to defray the expenses of the work should be paid back from the sale of lots in the new addition.

Later—Since the foregoing was written a petition, signed by R. L. Henry, T. C. Dempsey, John C. Butler, E. Wolff, N. E. Harris and others was presented to Judge Hunt, who is presiding for Judge Bartlett, asking him to enjoin the mayor and council from the further sale of lots in the new addition and not to use the same for burial purposes, Judge Hunt issued an order granting the injunction and requiring the mayor and council to show cause next Saturday why an injunction should not be made permanent. Tonight just before the meeting of city council, N. E. Harris, attorney for petitioners, served Judge Hunt's order on Mayor Price. Several aldermen were also present. The proceedings came as a great surprise to all of them.

MR. COMER'S TESTIMONY.

Some of the Things He Was Asked and the Savannah, Ga., April 25.—(Special.)— The examination of Mr. Comer before Master in Chancery Owens continued today. It brought out no new facts, but simply a history of the transactions under the receivership. Mr. Crawford endeavored to bring out by interrogations that the loan of $600,000 was entirely unnecessary. During the course of his examination Mr. Comer stated that no provision was made at all to pay off the loans maturing July 1st, amounting to $5,100,000, but it was expected to be done through the plan of reorganization. In case it failed the Central had twelve months to redeem the Central had twelve months to redeem the collateral and formulate a new plan. It was asked if Mr. Hollins had deposited his securities with the committee of which he was chairman. Mr. Comer did not knew, but he stated that there was no provision made that any part of the $600,000 was to be used to pay reorganization expenses. The suit for a $3,000,000 judgment in the city court here was touched upon and Crawford referred in an insinuating manner to the fact that the publication of the suit was suppressed until a week after it had been filed.

Colonel Garrard then cross-examined Mr. Comer, bringing out evidence tending to show the Richmond and Danville responsible for the Speyer contract. The Terminal people are satisfied with the result of the examination and say they have secured the evidence desired. They will file it with their motion before Judge Jackson.

Mr. Comer was asked during the course of the proceedings if he would defend the suit for $3,000,000 in the city court, to which he replied that that would depend on the action of the board of directors. In case no defense is made, judgment for the amount will be rendered May 1st.

ORDERS TO COMER

To Turn Over the Property of the Port Royal and Augusta. and Augusta.

Charleston, S. C., April 24.—In the United States court today Judge Simonton signed an order directing Receiver Comer of the Certral railroad to turn over to the Port Royal and Agusta Railroad Company all the property and effects of the company in his possession as receiver of the Georgia Central. This decision, based on that issued at Savannah by Judge Pardee, places the entir property of the Port Royal and Augusta railroad in the hands of Receiver Averill, who was appointed in a suit in the state court instigated by the majority of the stockholders of the Port Royal road backed by the state.

Athens, Ga., April 25.—(Special.)— There is a petition to the present session of Clarke superior court on the part of Lucy Cobb institute, requesting the privilege to amend its charter so as to allow the issue of bonds to the amount of $6,000 or $r $7,000. The purpose for which this money is desired is to erect or annex to the main building by which an additional number of young ladies may be accommodated and the work of the institute be en-

There comes, however, objections to this movement from several of the stockholders. Messrs. George Dudley, Thomas Sampson, H. The case will probably be heard during this session of court and it will be an interesting one.

Draw the Line on Tights.

The ministers of Athens are up in arms against certain classes of attractions that come through Athens from season to season. The ministers are against all kinds of theaters, but their especial opposition is to such shows as "Zozo," "Spider and Fly," and those of like nature. Flesh-colored tights, skirt dances, high kicking and the ballet came in for a heavy criticism at their hands and they are going to try and put a stop to such shows coming to Athens. The Athens Ministers' Association has discussed this matter and resolutions have been drawn up, signed by every minister in the city, except one, and will be presented to the mayor and council asking that body to use its influence to prohibit the appearance of such shows in Athens in the future. They refer the council to an ordinance forbidding such shows in Athens and ask the strict enforcement of the law. The agitation of this subject will bring on considerable discussion, but the ministers say they are in the fight to the end and intend to keep fighting until the victory is won. It is not known what the council will do when the petition is presented, but it is certain that it will be given a most hespectful hearing, and when it is presented, there is going to be some lively discussion over it.

Is the Plea of Charles Kelly to the People of Newton County.

Covington, Ga., April 25.—(Special.)—
The following is an extract from a letter written by Mr. Charles F. Kelly to his brother, Mr. Ed Kelly, and addressed to the people of Newton county:

I learn, through a letter from my brother, Ed Kelly, that the only objection some of the people of my old neighborhood have to my being pardoned by the governor is, that they fear I will go back there and give them trouble. I would not do that.

"I would not go back there, as I do not wish to go back. For God's sake I hope the people of Newton county will forgive the past, and not feel prejudiced against me. It seems to me that a Christian spirit ought to have neutralized all malice against me in twenty years. It is certainly inconsistent with Christianity to hold it longer. I hold no emnity against any one. I proclaim and maintain my innocence, as I have always done, and always will do as long as I live. Our family are all innocent, and know nothing of the killing whatever.

always done, and always will do as long as I live. Our family are all innocent, and know nothing of the killing whatever.

"As to my bad conduct, I can only say I am guilty of very little that is charged to me, and that was my first great fault. If the good people of Newton county will overlook that, and forgive me, I will never do so again, as I have already suffered a long time in the penitentiary.

"I have strong recommendation for my pardon, based upon the evidence in my trial and my father's trial. Some of the evidence against me has proven not to be true, and I ought to have the benefit of that. That is the reason that I have such a strong recommendation from Judge Hall for my pardon. I also have the recommendation of L. B. Anderson and Hon. T. B. Cabaniss, as well as from Colonel F. D. Dismuke, who made a speech in father's case. I also have a strong petition from a good number of the best citizens of Newton county, asking the governor to grant me a pardon. I have now suffered in confinement here for twenty years, which is exceedignly hard—especially for one who is innocent.

"If I am pardoned by the governor, I will

"If I am pardoned by the governor, I will not return to Newton county.

"That all people may live in peace and happiness while on earth, is my earnest wish. Yours respectfully.

The Capital City Club Blects Major Livingston Mims Again.

MADE A GOOD PRESIDENT.

Captain Jackson Complimented With Handsome Vote-Both Men Were Opposed to Running.

Major Livingston Mims is once more president of the Capital City Club.

That was the verdict of the ballots that went into the box all yesterday at the clubhouse. It was found last night after midnight when all of the ballots were counted that Major Mims was elected, though, in spite of Captain Jackson's positive refusal the night before to allow his name to go before the club for re-election it was found that he received a handsome vote. This, he not only arose the night before in the meeting of the club and refused to ask re-election, even after his name was placed in nomination, but declared that he could not accept the place if it were tendered him with unanimous vote. On the other hand it must be received by Major Mims as a very high compliment also to be elected in the face of his declaration that he could not accept the position. He not only said he could not action. He not only said he could not accept it, but went to the clubhouse several times during the day and begged his friends to withdraw their support from him and vote for some one else. He declared he could not accept the position. But, his friends were determined that he should be their president and he is, if their votes count for aught.

Major Mims was president of the club for a long time. He was in that office when the splendid receptions to Grover Cleveland, Mrs. Harrison and other distinguished visitors were given several years tinguished visitors were given several years ago, and through his entire term he made an excellent president. His friends in the club remember all this well.

The other officers dected by the members club remember all this well.

The other officers elected by the members of the club for the ensuing term were as follows:

Vice president, H. P. Cooper; secretary and treasurer, J. C. Courtney; governing committee, C. E. Harmon, H. M. Atkinson, H. M. McKeldin, C. K. Crankshaw, W. P. Hill, J. H. Lumpkin.

The Capital City Club is flourishing like the proverbial rose. The recent improvements to the building will soon be in place and then there will be few such clubhouses in the southern states.

Nearly fifty thousand dollars will be expended in the annex that is now in course of construction and when it is finished it certainly will add much to the beauty and convenience of the house.

Captain Harry Jackson has made a progressive president of the club and under his excellent guidance it has been advanced very considerably. It was due largely to his efforts that the loan was secured for the renovation of the building and his management of the details of the club has been of a most satisfactory nature, as the reports of all the officers showed at the meeting night before last.

Smith Will Hang Friday.

Roberta, Ga., April 25.—(Special.)—The excitement now among the people of this section is the hanging of Nathan Smith, colored, next Friday. Smith has made a final confession to the sheriff in which he only implicates himself and Owen Howe, alias Howard in the killing of Dow Walker, and he says that Owen did all the shooting.

He says that Owen did all the shooting. He says that certain prominent white men of Upson county hired him and Owen Howe to commit the crime, and he received $40 for his share and Owen the same.

Smith has told so many stories that the people hardly know how to believe him.

The New York Symphony Orchestra, Walter Damrosch, conductor, which will be heard here in two grand festival concerts on the afternoon and evening of May 11th, contains sixty-five of the best artists of Europe and America. This orchestra, without a doubt, ranks first in this country, surpassing in its ranks first in this country, surpassing in its exquisite unity and balance even the orchestras of Nikisch and Thomas. Walter Damrosch's world-wide reputation is too well known to call for any extended mention. Beginning his great musical career at an early age, with the advantage of the matchless training of his father, the lamented Dr. Leopoid Damrosch, he now stands without question, the greatest, as well as the youngest of the musical conductors in America. In his method he is most scholarly, dignified and precise.

Thoughts for Today.

Throughout the fairest region of the republic today the graves of the confederate dead will receive their tribute of sunshine, flowers and tears.

It has been nearly a quarter of a century since a conquered banner was furled at Appomattox, and the flag of the republic waves over a united and a loyal people from the St. Lawrence to the Rio Grande.

But, despite this changed condition of affairs, the people of the late southern confederacy love the memory of their dead heroes, and every year the graves of their valiant defenders are decorated with flowers. Our memorial day is the outcome of genuine patriotism. The people who are true to their neighbors and friends and loval to their own state are the very ones of all others who will be truest to the country in its hour of need.

It is gratifying to see the general observance of this memorable day. It is the proper tribute for a great people to pay to the men who died for their country and their race. The soldiers who followed Lee and Jackson were the flower of southern chivalry, and when we honor them we honor source of everything that is illustrious in our history.

Among those who strew flowers today will be many gray-haired men who bore their part manfully in the days that tried men's souls and found them equal to the test. These survivors of the legions that wore the gray should not be forgotten. In all the upheavals and changes of the new south they have been our wisest counselors and our best workers. The model citizen of the republic is the ex-confederate. View him from any standpoint and he stands forth the best representative of the south and of the whole union.

Today should be properly commemorated in every city, town and village in the south. Its observance is demanded by our self-respect. To ignore it would be a sign of ingratitude and serfdom The south will do her duty to both the dead and the living!

Why Not an Extra Session?

It is perfectly evident that neither Mr. Cleveland nor Mr. Carlisle is of the opinion that the raid on the treasury by the eastern bankers for the purpose of forcing an issue of bonds constitutes what is called an "emergency." Mr. Cleveland has felt called upon, since he is to be away from Washington for several days, to declare what his policy will be, and his declaration does not differ in any material way from that of

Some of the republican organs and other agents of the eastern bond forcers and gold sharks are complaining that neither declaration amounts to a definite statement of policy. Nevertheless, it seems perfectly clear that it is the intention of the administration not to issue new bonds until such an issue is authorized by congress, but to continue to pay out the gold reserve until the conspirators discover that they are unable to embarrass the treasury.

Whenever the necessity arises there will be and should be an extra session of congress. Some of the wiseacres around Washington are credited with saying that an extra session of congress would be "embarrassing" to the administration. This is certainly a new view to take of the people's congress, and it grows out of the idea of the department clerks that the administration is the government, and that the people have nothing whatever to do with it.

A more serious mistake was never ade, even by the hangers-on around Washington. The people's representatives are still the most definite part of the government, and both they and the distration are selected merely for

The Constituion is of the opinion that in any real emergency an extra session of congress would materially strengthen the administration in its contest with the eastern bond-forcers and Shylocks It would clarify the atmosphere and materially cool the ardor of those who are using their utmost endeavors to embar rass the government.

We Must Stand by the Law. The citizens of Denmark, S. C., made deplorable mistake, last Monday, when they lynched John Peterson.

The victim was suspected of having assaulted Miss Baxter. He surrendered himself to the governor, asking for protection and a fair trial. Safely guarded and locked up, there was no reason why this helpless negro should not have been left to the courts. He had witnesses whose testimony tended to establish an alibi, and Miss Baxter, herself, positively declared that he was not the man who had assaulted her.

Yet, in the face of these facts 500 frenzied people could not wait for the orderly administration of justice-could not even wait until another person suspected of the crime had been investigated. Their blood was on fire, and somebody had to die-if not the right man, then anybody supposed or accused of having committed the deed. And so John Peterson was strung up like a dog and his body was filled with bullets.

All this would have been horrible and indefensible if the man's guilt had been undoubted, but his innocence makes the tragedy barbarous and brutal in the extreme. We must suppress this lynch law business. Under such lawlessness there will be no certainty about anything. Respectable citizens will lynch bad men, and bad men will get even by lynching good men. If a mob of 500 men can lynch a suspect, why not five men, two men, or even one man. This is what such methods lead to-a condition of society in which every strong man makes himself judge, jury and executioner.

The second sober thought of our people is against such anarchy. The black brutes who feloniously assault women will not escape justice, and to doubt our judges and juries is an insulting reflection upon the whole body of our cit-Izenship. We believe that the good citlzens of South Carolina will endorse these views, and we take pleasure in pointing them to the prompt action of a Georgia judge in dealing with the white cappers of Carroll county. It will be recollected that Judge Harris sentenced these men to terms in the chaingang within less than thirty days after the outrage with which they were charged was committed. Such justice is speedy enough. We can expect no investigation, no general building up, no great advance in civilization until we firmly establish the reign of law. We must put the world upon notice that the poorest and vilest wretch will be protected In every southern state from every unlawful hand, and we must also make it understood that the motto of our courts is, "Let no guilty man escape." But let us have no more lynch law-that be### longs to a barbarous age. A "Silver Basis."

Some of our contemporaries-espec ially those that have forgy ideas of finances, or who express whatever ideas they have in a foggy manner-are continually protesting against the probabilsilver basis, and they go so far as to charge that those who favor free bimetallic coinage are in favor of a silver basis. Considering the course of events and the very clear intention of the goldolators and money sharks to bring our financial system to a silver basis as soon as they can, it may be well to discuss the silver basis from the standpoint of the people and to explain, not what our foggy contemporaries call a silver basis, but what a silver basis really is.

The Constitution is for free bimetallic coinage, first, last and all the time: for the alternating system-the system that will substitute silver for the gold standard when gold gets too valuable, and gold for the silver standard when silver gets too high. In this way, and in this way only, is it possible to provide a sound, safe and stable currency standard. Nevertheless, and notwithstanding the fact that it is unalterably wedded to bimetallism in its truest sense, The Constitution, in common with all who sympathize with the people, would prefer a silver basis to the constantly appreciating gold basis, which is robbing lebtors and embarrassing the prosperity of all who are engaged in produc-

The goldolators and money sharks, by refusing to accede to or even conider the just demands of the people for a change in our currency system. and by making a combined attack on the credit of the government, are rapidly driving the country in the direction of a silver basis. It may be well, therefore, to discuss the matter and to inquire, in the light of common sense, what the results of a silver basis would

In the first place, it should be borne in mind that the only way to bring our currency system to a genuine silver basis is to demonetize gold and remone-tize the white metal. When the eastern financiers express fears of a gold basis they mean a condition of affairs that will cause gold to go to a premium as compared with the paper currency that, under the law, is supposed to represent silver. There is a superstition prevalent in the minds of those who do not remember the course of affairs when gold was at a premium in the years suc ceeding the war-and even in the minds of some who do remember that periodthat a premium on gold means bankruptcy and ruin. As a matter-of fact, it means nothing of the sort, and in a time of peace it frequently means precisely the contrary, just as it did in the years that intervened between the closing of the war and the resumption of specie payments in 1879.

It should be borne in mind that for years before the war silver was at a dum over gold during the war and own to the day of the demonetization of the white metal, so that during the war and for ten years thereafter, silver was at a premium over gold and gold at a premium over greenbacks, showing the existence of what modern financiers would call a ruinous dislocation of our currency system. And yet there was nothing ruinous about it. The country prospered when silver was at a premium over gold, and gold at a premium over paper. The people got good prices for their products. The ionetary standard had overleaped its real value, and its appreciation was represented in a premium that neither bothered the people nor interfered with business. A great statesman once said that "we must judge the future by the past." The utterance has outlived many profounder sayings because it embodies fact that appeals to all minds.

Therefore, when we discuss "a silver basis" that is to be reached by a premium on gold, it will be wise to refer. by way of comparison, to the conditions that existed when the gold premium exsted and the Wall street wreckers were speculating in the rise and fall of the metal. To this point an element of that center is trying to drive gold again, Some of the financiers want bonds is sued, and some of the financial speculators want gold to go to a premium. The probability is that gold will go to premium before bonds are issued, and n view of that event it is well to say that a premium on gold under the pres ent conditions would cause no embar rassment to any business or to any class except those creditors who have been reaping the fruits of the increas ing value of gold. On the other hand there would be s rise in prices, and the money employed to carry on business would not be overvalued to the extent of throttling enterprise. Moreover, the premium on gold would be the means of hastening the remonetization of silver, and this event would bring about a readjustment of our finances in the interest of the people.

We have ventured to discuss this subject in order to reassure the minds of those who may be disturbed by the threats and prophecies of editors and writers who are talking about a silver basis. So contentious a monometallist as Matthew Marshall, the financial writer of The New York Sun, fails to figure out any crash, collapse or serious trouble from the "silver basis" brought about by a premium on gold. The business of the country and the interests of the people are safe.

An Impatient Democrat.

'An esteemed correspondent, who signs himself "Old Hickory," is apparently dissatisfied because comparatively few republican officials have been removed since the new administration came into power.

This impatience is natural, and yet it s unreasonable. Rome was not built In a day, and a democratic administration cannot be expected in the short peried of eight weeks to straighten out the tangles of a generation of republican rule.

Then, there is another point to be considered. It is the policy of the administration to permit efficient officials to serve out their terms, and when they have displayed no offensive partisanship this will doubtless be the rule. Many office holders, too, are under the civil service system, and, therefore, cannot be removed, except for cause.

We must proceed without undue haste in these matters. The administration is not likely to forget what is due to itself and to the country, but it cannot with any show of justice make a clean sweep of all the old office holders at one swoop.

We have frequently said that the Harrison officials who are guilty of offensive partisanship should be removed at an early day. This is in perfect harmony with our civil service rules. When an office holder becomes an offensive partisan he makes himself less acceptable to the public, and less efficient. Marshal Buck, it goes without saying, comes under this head. He deliberately placed himself there and glories in his partisanry. He knows, just as all democrats know, that he should not be permitted to hold his office a day longer.

It is unnecessary and untimely to urge the points suggested by our correspondent, but so far as Buck and men of his kidney are concerned, it is plainly the duty of the administration to give them their walking papers, and put good democrats in their places. There should be no room in a democratic administration for an offensive republican parti-

Massachusetts Justice.

Ex-President Potter, of the Maverick National bank, who was convicted of falsely certifying numerous checks, and thereby wrecking his bank, has been sentenced to sixty days imprisonment in jail and a fine of $1,000.

Mr. Potter at once gave bond, and as his case goes to the federal supreme court, it will be at least a year before he goes to jail. This man's offense was a very grave one. He was the custodian of other people's money and willfully appropriated a trust fund by means of false certificates. His wealth and influence enabled him to get off with a nominal penalty, and yet every day half-starved men who lay their hands on a few dollars to save their families from absolute want are sent to the penitentiary for a term of years.

This sort of justice makes anarchists, and is a direct encouragement to lawlessness. No community can afford to have two kinds of law-mild penalties for the privileged classes, and severe penalties for the masses. Such a policy destroys all respect for law, and in their resentment people are tempted to rebel against lawful authority and throw off all restraints. The Maverick bank wrecker deserved a long term in prison. and it is the grossest injustice to let him off with sixty days in jail, and then sentence a poor man who has pocketed a trifle to several years in the peniten-

It has been years and years since the wildcat financiers were unable to call a secretary of the treasury to their parlors. They have called and beckoned to Mr. Carlisle, and he he has refused to go. They don't know what to make of such a man.

The people of the country will remem-ber that Wall street banks, holding $72,000, 000 in gold have not furnished a dollar to the government. Remembering this, the people will also remember its significance.

"We will exchange gold for greenbacks, says the west. "Not a dollar of our gold car you get until you issue bonds," says Wall

The Atlanta Southern Home is in favor of a new state code. It says:

POLITICS, IN GENERAL.

New York World: It is a time for confidence rather than for fear, for support of the treasury rather than for adding to its embarrassment. "There is gold enough in the country to meet all the requirements of the situation." Those who hoard it invite the danger which they profess to wish averted.

Where Are the Fruits?

Editor Constitution: There is an uprear in the popular heart, and a tempest brewing there whose thunders will be heard, and powers to crush will, sooner or later, whose powers to crush will, sooner or later, be felt by those who, it the face of the overwhelming victory in November have holsted a flag of truce, under cover of which the vanquished hold the fort, and virtually render null and void that axiom of democratic faith "vox populi vox die."

If the battle was waged by the Georgians with so much cathusiasm was not with the hope of ridding the country, from president down, of officeholders who antagonized the triumph of democratic principles and were otherwise obnoxious to the people, what was the motive, I ask, that actuaged that vociferous expression from the ballot box that electrified the country with the emphasis of a spontaneous and conclusive utterance?

There was no room for a misunderstanding of the import of the country of the state. There was no room for a misunderstanding of the import of that decision. It was such a resolute and vehementiy outspoken iteration of the popular will as to need no interpretation.

for years the south has been outraged by quasi alien officeholders representing not a For years the south has been outraged by quasi alien officeholders representing, not a single sentiment, social or political, that harmonized with the spirit of her white citizens or with the real interests of any of her native population, and regard for public justice as well as consideration for the commonest principles of decency, demand that these brazenfaced intruders, who fastened their deadly fangs in her vitals under the anomalaus conditions of radical supremacy should be compelled as speedily as possible to pack their political gripsacks and vacate the premises, returning "as the dog to his vomit, or the sow to her wollering in the mire," to their normal shades of obscurity, from which neither time nor eternity can resurrect them.

It is not upon the basis of the declaration that "to the victor belongs the spoils," that this appeal to the rational and patriotic sentiment of Georgia's representatives in congress is addressed, but upon the higher, broader, and more invulnerable assumption that the people of this great commonwealth are entitled, under the auspices, a signal democratic victory to a speedy recognition of their grievances, and to that relief that demands that their enemies may no longer rule over them, but that all federal offlices in the state shall be filled by men who espoused their cause and sym-

Can any man with sensibilities that respond to a single righteous impulse suggest the shadow of an excuse for the amazing courtest that has been extended by this administration to Colonel Buck, the head and front of the champions of Ethopian against Caucasian sentiment in Georgia? Shall I pause for an answer?

Mr. Cleveland has too often expressed in language that cannot be misinterpreted his unalterable determination to maintain the sanctity of democratic faith in this particular for tardiness in the removal of these distanted partisans to be charged to his account.

for tardiness in the removal of these distasteful partisans to be charged to his account.

When the demand is made upon him, therefore, through the proper channel for their political execution the headsman's ax will fall, and without much ceremony or delay the funeral procession will begin its solemn march to that quiet cemetery of repose where defunct officials are laid to rest.

In the name of the wrongs she has sustained at the hands of officials who represent no sentiments in common with those of her people—in the name of her right to be exempt under a democratic administration from the domination of inimical republican officials Georgia protests against the wrong that is being done to her by the prolongation of the official existence of Ruck and others like him. No sane man will deny that this temporizing policy is an injustice to our people.

Home rule, as well as tariff reform, was the battle cry that "waked the echoes of sleepy hollow" and brought patriotic Georgians from their hiding places to add their testimony to the strength of democratic sentiment in the Empire State, and for what? Surely not to see the enemies of both enjoy the fruits of a victory that was won in order that the state and country might be no longer cursed by the vampires of republicanism, who for a third of a century have rioted and feasted upon public plums.

In a government founded upon the consent of the governed the supreme law is the popular will, and when that will has been promulgated at the ballot box, he who stands in the way of its execution is a traitor to the cause of popular severeignty and an enemy to his country.

The announcement that the two riders would make the start from the ball park brought many of their friends out to see them leave and to give them a send off. As Mr. Howard disappeared from view, two friends spun after him on their wheels and accompanied him for several miles on his trip. Just what direction he took no one knows yet, neither does any one know where he rested

Mr. Durant left the grounds at 5 o'clock, two hours after Mr. Howard had begun his ride, and reached Austell last night in time for supper and a long rest before retiring for the night. The pace set by his first afternoon's work is a good one and if he maintains it he will come out winner.

The game of ball was going on when Mr.

Durant reached the grounds and as he came in he was given a grand reception by his many friends. The grand stand was full of them and it was quite evident that Mr. Durant would be given a great send off. He was attired in a bicycle suit which fitted him perfectly. His machine, a Cofitted him perfectly. His machine, a Co-lumbia, was equipped with a pair of saddle bags carrying all he will need on the trip. He looked the perfect athlete he is, as he came before the grand stand, and his friends were made more confident than ever that he would win. Just before 5 o'clock the end of the eighth inning came and as the men were changing positions Mr. Durant mounted his machine and riding out in front of the grand stand bowed. He then rolled his machine to the pitcher's box and at 5 o'clock Harrington, the umpire, gave the word and Durant was off on his long ride to Chicago. He described a circle or two and then turning his ma-chine towards the gate hit an even, easy pace. As he neared the gate he waved his hands gracefully to his friends and passed out of sight. The grand stand gave him a rousing lot of noise as he went behind it, while the people in the bleachers yelled lustily too. Durant rode out of the gate and was joined by one of his brothers, Mr. Harry Durant, who made several miles

His death has caused universal regret, and he leaves behind him a number of mourning friends and relatives. He was always kind and attentive and willing to lend a helping hand to any one in need of aid or consolation.

He was well thought of wherever he went and with whosever he associated. Yesterday morning the following resolutions were acted upon by the convention of hardware jobbers, of which association Mr. Clarke was an en-thusiastic member: "Whereas, On the eve of assembling in this

On next Tuesday the annual meeting of the trustees will be held, and any matters of business that should have come up yesterday will be attended to. The hospital is, perhaps, in better shape now than it has been since its organization. Everything seems to be moving smoothly under the administration of Superintendent Brewster.

Signor Compobello's Operatic Entertainment We have already called the attention of all lovers of fine music to the two operation We have already called the attention of all lovers of fine music to the two operatic performances which will be given next Friday and Saturday by some of the best operasingers of this country. These will be highly enjoyable and such as we have not had for a long time. The operas and parts of operas will be rendered in full costumes, with scenery and local chorus. The first night and act of "Faust," one from "La Traviata." one scene from "H Trovatore" and the second act of "Don Pasquale" will be interpreted. At the matinee the full opera of Mascagni, "Cavalleria Rusticana." will be sung. It would be difficult to have a better programme and the occasion ought to bring out all amateurs of music.

Of the artists not too much praise can be spoken. Mrs. S. T. Carnes is a brilliant young prima donna whose fame is well established. Signor de Pasqualis is, with Karl, one of the best tenors of America. Signor Campobello's rich baritone volce needs no commendations. Such a trio of artists can interpret in perfection the finest and most difficult operas. They will not attempt however, to show us how they can overcome difficulties, but rather how they can please, amuse and enthuse their audience. The operatic gems chosen by them are full of melody and will please those who are not educated musicians as well as the most fastidious diletante.

Editor Constitution: Nothing in flower-life so-completely fills the vision as a perfect rose. There are sweeter blossoms, but none so royal. They come to me in many shades, and their soft beauty suggests many thoughts. They cheer my loneliness, and make more bearable the manacles that bind me to the prison of ill health. In the plak I see the early dawn, the rosiness of youth, the strength of hope. Failure has no part in this brilliant dye, and disappointment lurks not in its fadeless blooms. Roseate and secure, there is no fear of lost brighness, or failing warmth; but if the pallor comes nature struggles flercely to regain her wasting life. The red is not so delusive, and marks a time of less enthusiasm. The heart bounds not so high, nor drops so low. Our thoughts are calm, and we do not hold our destinies. The tide flows more evenly, and we watch our barks go down with not so fierce a struggle. Oh, these barks of fate. It is in the plak tide the waves lash high, and the wild birds shriek. The clothof-gold points to palaces, and is very near to crowns and kings. In its royal heart I see the struggle for greatness. Fit symbol of honor, wealth and fame; I do not forget the gold that ornamented the Lord's temple—and then the "streets of gold." The white is the emblem of peace. Its pure presence calms all tumultuous thoughts; and I am in sympathy with all things good and fair. I cling to these restful blooms and feel shadowed when they early fail. They fill my heart with holiness, and I know that their waxen whiteness is meant for the love of the bridal, the mystery of death and the glory of the resurrection. Macon, Ga.

The Interstate Commerce Commission. A Timely Tribute.

The Interstate Commerce Commission.

Judge Newman was engaged all day yesterday in hearing argument in the case of the interstate commerce commission against the Cincinnati, New Orleans, Texas Pacific, Georgai raliroad and the Western and Atlantie in regard to the long and short haul clause. The specific case is the Columbus Buggy Company, instance where more was charged for hauling buggles to Social Circle than for taking them several hundred miles further. The raliroads plead water competition.

Hon. A. G. Safford, of Washington, and Hon. B. L. Berner represented the commission, and the raliroads were well represented by Mr. Baxter, of Nashville; Mr. Cummings, of Augusta, and Judge Hillyer and Messrs. Payne & Tye, of Atlanta. Several speeches were made but no decision was rendered and it will be possibly a month before the judge makes an order.

Memorial Day throughout the Southern League is one of the plums every year when the schedule committee comes together. Every club in the league wants to be at home on that day because of the big crowds that always turn out.

In the National League it is even a bigger plum and the fight for the game there often produces a bad feeling among some of the managers. In that league so valuable is the day considered that in every town two games are scheduled and played.

Last Memorial Day Atlanta was at home and Macon was the visiting team. It was on that day that Bailey, the king, made his bow to the Southern League. When the last schedule committee met and the work began, it was conceded by all that Atlanta should have the game Memorial Day because of the big crowd it drew last year, but as soon as that point was set-tled every club in the league began wrangling for the day with Atlanta. Chattanoofrom his city to see his team play for the first time since the season opened. The game will not be called until 4 o'clock on account of the fact that the procession to the cemetery will not move until 3 o'clock. There are a great many who will want to visit the cemetery. By calling the game at 4 o'clock most of these can be given all the time they want and then take in the game of ball. The indications are that the crowd will be a large one and that the seating capacity of the grand stand will be tested. Last year the gates had to be closed so great was the crowd. The advance sale of tickets indicates that today ga was given the day, and Manager Schmelz is looking for quite a delegation will be nearly as great.

The box sheet at Khurt's old stand was full of tacks yesterday afternoon and every tack indicated the sale of a box. Several of the boxes have been bought by parties out of the city while quite a number of grand stand tickets have been sold to out of town people. Marietta, Decatur, Newnan and Palmetto will all be represented on the grounds and among the visitors will be quite a number of ladies.

Both managers will be out for the game and it will be worth seeing. The game Chattanooga put up yesterday shows that that team can play ball. A hit at two or three stages of the game would have pulled them out yesterday and today Mana-ger Schmelz will try his best to take the lead. Manager Murray thinks now that he should have three straights and will pull hard for it this afternoon.

Ely may be able to take his place at short but the chances are that he will not play any more this week. The game will be called promptly at 4

IT WAS A PRETTY GAME.

And a Large Crowd was Out to Enjoy It. Fine Support.

The Atlantas defeated the Chattanoogas again yesterday. And the game, notwithstanding the score was one of the most interesting and at times uncertain that has been played on the Atlanta grounds this season. Three times during the game a hit for Chattanooga would have changed the condition of affairs and might have resulted in Atlanta's defeat. But Rettger settled down to his work and the hit Chattanooga needed so much could not be produced. Manager Schmelz presented the Menafee brothers as his battery and the youngsters showed up in good shape. They are both good ball players and in them Schmelz has a pair of the most promising young men in the league. They have been working toa pair of the most promising young men in the league. They have been working together for some time and are in thorough harmony. Tom Menafee's catching is easy and excellent, while his throwing would make Buck Ewing again what he once was. His brother works in the box with all his might and appears to have complete control of the ball with all the speed necessary. Together they make as good a battery as there is in the Southern league. Camp opened the game with a pretty single to centre field and stole second nicely. He was sacrificed to third by Murphy and came home on Motz's home run hit. Conners made a hit but was caught at second while Lally went out at first. Two runs were chalked up as the teams changed positions.

McClellan hit to Conner and was thrown out at first. Walsh made a two-bagger and was sacrificed to third by Abbey, where he was left by J. Menefee's strike-out.

A single by Dixon was all Atlanta could and was sacrificed to third by Abber, where he was left by J. Menefee's strikeout.

A single by Dixon was all Atlanta could get in the second and then he was forced out at second by a magnificent throw of Easton's from deep center field where Rettger had sent the ball. That throw was one of the features of the game and caught the grand stand and the bleechers. With two men out in the second Selbach got his first on Murphy's error but was left there by Easton's strike out.

Murphy's home run in the third was the only thing of interest in that inning.

A strike out by McClellan and fly outs by Lerett and Walsh constituted Chattanooga's third.

A single by Letcher and a sacrifice by Murray made the story of the second but neither did any good as Dixon and Rettger added to the ranks of the out in that inning.

It was in the fourth that Chattanooga made her only run and it was an earned one too. Abbey led off with a nice three bagger and came home on Ryan's single after J. Menafee had flied out. Ryan never got any further than first as T. Menafee flew out to Lally and Selbach struck out. Atlanta crossed the plate again in the eighth. A three bagger by Conner and Lerett's error gave the run.

In the ninth a base on balls for Murray, a sacrifice by Dixon and an error by Ryan and a single by Murray let Murray and Camp score. Murphy, however, was left on second by Mots's strike out.

In the eighth Chattanooga had the bases full with one man out. A hit meant a great deal but Menafee and Ryan who yere in the line for the hit could not find

The State and Atlanta Societies Merged Into One.

MR. M'BRIDE MADE PRESIDENT.

Election of Delegates to the National Convention-An Elegant Repast En-joyed By the Society.

Dining, music, speech-making and busiess gave the Scotch-Irish of Georgia and Atlanta about as much diversion as they could well crowd into the evening at Concordia hall last night.

It was a red-letter night in the history of the Scotch-Irish of the state of Georgia. It saw the amalgamation of the Georgia society of Scotch-Irishmen with the At-lanta society, saw the Atlanta society practically gobble up the whole business, saw an Atlanta man made president, saw a fine supper served to the Scotch-Irishmen and their ladies, heard some very inspiring and patriotic music considering that it was furnished on American soil by Scotch-Irishmen and heard some very fine

Charleston 8. Augusta 13.

Charleston, S. C., April 25.—(Special.)—The terrific and deceptive curves of German proved too much for the Charleston sluggers today and they went down by a score of 13 to 8. The game was well played, however, up to the fourth inning, when the locals became rattled. Augusta's four runs in this inning were made after two men were out and the third man had had two strikes. The decided feature of the game was the work of the Augusta outfield. Stallings picked two files off the fence in right field and Stafford did the same in the center field. Killen, who pitched for Charleston, was almost pounded out of the box.

presided while Atlanta's Scotch-Irishmen were being added to the state organization.

There were present about one hundred representative Scotch-Irish citizens of Atlanta, many of whom were accompanied by their wives and daughters. Wurm's orchestra furnished Scotch-Irish music. There was but little formality in merging the two societies. President McWhorter stated that he could not act as president longer, and a committee of three was appointed to select a president.

The committee reported the name of Colonel . L. Camoun. That gentleman stated that he could not accept under any circumstances. He had been compelled to decline re-election to the presidency of the Veterans' Association for the reason that the work of his office had so increased as to demand his exclusive attention. The committee again retired and returned with the recommendation that Hon. A. J. Mc-Bride be made president. The recommendation was very enthusiastically adopted. Mr. McBride made a few remarks in accepting the honor, stying among other things that he was greatly surprised that he should be selected.

meeting at 10 o'clock those present repaired to the dining room adjoining the hall, where a fine repast was enjoyed. The table was pretifity decorated with greenery, ferns and the like, and was laden with all kinds of good things to eat. President McBride acted as master of ceremonies. There was no programme for speech-making, but a few impromptu remarks were listened to after the elegant supper had been attended to.

The banquet was not a late one. The sturdy Scotch-Irish do not keep late hours, and by 11 o'clock the supper and speeches were ended. It was a very fine occasion for all that.

Montgomery Beat New Orleans.

New Orleans, April 25.—(Special.)—Montgomery increased her grip on first place today by defeating New Orleans on the latter's own grounds. New Orleans put in Duke to pitch, although he had a very sore arm, and he was hit hard at times, while at other times he could not get the ball over the plate. Doran, as usual, was called upon to finish the game, and kept the visitors from increasing their score. Added to Duke's pitching was the inability of New Orleans to hit Donahue with any degree of safety, as the Montgomery fielders gave him excellent backing, while New Orleans did Fair weather prevailed yesterday in the eastern lake region and on the south Atlan-tic and gulf coasts, but in nearly all other sections of the country local rains have been reported, all of which were light, after

The storm area mentioned as occupying a position immediately west of the Mississippi river has since moved but little. Its center last night was in the vicinity of Abliene, Tex., and this position of a storm of its magnitude is favorable to cause more rain today in many of the states between the lakes and the gulf.

Temperatures rose considerable yesterday in portions of the south, making the now prevailing weather warm and seasonable throughout all southern states. In San Antonio yesterday the temperature was up to 96 degrees, the highest reported in the country. Cool weather continues in the lake region and in the northwest portion of the country a rapid change to colder is reported. In Denver the highest temperature yesterday was 38 degrees—30 degrees colder than the highest temperature on Monday. Like decided changes were reported in various cities of Kansas, Nebsaska and North and South Dakota. The coldest reported at 7 o'clock last night was the temperature of 34 degrees at Denver, North Platte and Rapid City.

For Georgia today: Favorable for local showers; no decided change in temperature. vailing weather warm and seasonable throughhours. Umpire—Reeder.

Savannah 14, Macon 7.

Savannah, Ga., April 25.—(Special.)—Savannah defeated Macon here today in a dul and listless game in the presence of about two thousand people. Miller sent thirteen men to first on balls and forced in two runs in the fifth inning through his wildness. His support was very bad, costly errors being made at critical stages of the game, which rattled him.

This will be the last game the Atlantas will play at home this week.

The team will leave tonight for Chattanooga with Manager Schmelz and will play in that city Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The team will return home Sunday and will open on Tuesday with Sayannah. Monday is off day, and there will be no games in the league unless they are deferred games. Atlanta has one deferred game with Sayannah, and Manger Murray will try to induce Manager Manning to play the game Monday, but it is not certain that Manning will consent to it.

THE NEW YORK MARKET. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

NEW YORK, April 25.-While the stock market was by no means active, a much firmer tone characterized the dealings than of late, tone characterized the dealings than of late, and the trend of prices was distinctly upward. The bears fought the rise step by step, and at intervals succeeded in bringing about reactions of more or less importance, but each decline brought in buying orders and substantial rallies ensued. Toledo, Ann Arbor and North Michigan continued heavy with a further decline from 24 down to 17 3-4. The weakness was due to forced sales by operators who could not stand the risk of further loss, and also to the alleged embarrasment of an offialso to the alleged embarrassment of an offi-cial of the company, who from time to time has had issued large numbers of privileges, cial of the company, who from time to time has had issued large numbers of privileges, with a view of stimulating the rest of the outsiders in the market. Whether the puts made by this official will be honored or not is still an open question. The bears tried to use the break in Toledo, Ann Arbor and North Michigan, and Northeastern and Distillers against the market, but they were unsuccessful. The drop in Distillers was occasioned by advices from the west that the proposed bond issue would be hotly contested by certain other stockholders. New England broke from 32 14 to 29 on sales of stop orders, but rallied to 31 3-4. American Tobacco jumped 4, and reached 2 per cent. The general run of stock improved 1-2 to 21-2, with the Industrials in the lead.

Lead rose 2 3-8 to 39 1-2 Sugar 1 7-8 to 104 and General Electric to 2 1-2 to 100 1-2. There was good buying of the Grangers. Burlington and Quincy was especially strong, selling up 4 3-4 to 141 1-2. Final sales were at a reaction of 1-8 to 1 per cent, but the undertone of the market was firm. Taken altogether, a more confident feeling prevailed, owing to the easier condition of the money market, the sharp decline in foreign exchange, the probability that there will be no exports of gold by Saturday's steamers and a growing belief that the administration will authorize an issue of bonds if it is found expedient to pursue this course. Sales 287,000, including 4,100 R. T. Railway bonds were firm. The sales were $954,000.

NEW YORK, April 25.—No definite news was received from Washington this morning but still there were so many rumors current of relief coming to the treasury that the shorts decided to cover up and the buying for this account must have been between thirty and thirty-five thousand shares. Europe then came in as a buyer and bought about five thousand shares, and these two factors contributed to today's rise. The offer of Mr. Carlisle said to have been made to the bankers is as follows: That the banks were to advance $50,000,000 in gold, for which 5 per cent ten-year bonds were to be issued on a 5 per cent basis. These bonds would not be handed over to the bankers, but would be deposited in trust at the subtreasury and certificates given to the bankers. These, certificates, however, would not be legal tender reserve nor would they be available for circulation. At the end of one year the government to have the right to redeem these bonds in gold, if this were not done, the trust to be dissolved and the bonds distributed. This plan was of course rejected by the bankers as not feasible and it is yet an open question. If this statement, which is published—on the street, is really true, we hardly think that any bonds will be issued for some time to come, nor that the New York bankers will help out the treasury, as it would only postpone the ultimate repeal of the sliver law, and as long as the treasury is always helped out and the diffaulty tided over we cannot expect any good results, and we feel that the J. Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, April 25—The cotton trade is beginning or realize that the fear of financial trouble in regard to the redemption of the United States notes is more to the redemption of the United States notes is more widespread than in New Yorrk. Cables from Liverpool to ourselves and others reiterate the statement that the market is adversely affected by fears of commercial panic in America through the contraction of the currency which would follow if we went upon a silver basis. Under this impression Liverpool decliaed today 4@5-64d, closing quiet and steady, and spinners were not slow to suppose that the rumors would be confirmed and they would be able to secure the cotton at their own prices. Our market opened steady at 3@ i points decline from yesterday's quotations, became slightly easier and has since rallied to within 2 points of the prices current restorday evening. The temper of the market remains decidedly bearish in view of the advices from Liverpool, although this and the southern markets are the lowest in the world. Crop accounts do not materially improve. No doubt a great deal of damage has been done by the recent cold weather in the Mississippi valley, and the crop needs rain in Texas. Throughout the northern cotton belt rain would be beneficial, but warm weather is the first requisite. A Throughout the northern cotton belt rain would be beneficial, but warm weather is the first requisite. A cold wave appears to be extending from the Rockies down through Texas, and the weather probabilities indicate colder weather through that section of the country for tomorrow. The New Orleans cottoner, change has changed its form of contract to agree with that adopted by the New York cotton exchange last year, excluding anything below good coldiers from year, excluding anything below good ordidary from delivery on contracts. Cotton of that grade, however is very scarce, and commands relatively a premium at the present time. The surplus cotton of America seems to be composed of very fine grades for which the European buyers are not willing to pay the pre-mium demaned. It is the fear of the tender of these high grade cottons upon contracts that maintains the nce between spot cotton and contracts. During the afternoon the market maintained the steady ton the afternoon the market maintained the steady tone acquired in the morning, and the close was within one or two points of last evening's figures. There is no change in the bearish views entertained by the trade at large, and the improvement in the market today was resisted by frequent offerings, and we think that the short interest, if anything, has been increased as a result of today's transactions. With a more favorable tone to the financial situation, we are inclined to look for a steady market in Liverpool, as cotton is not selling at a high price, and there is no profitable margin between sales of yarns and purchases of cotton as present quotations.

J. S. Bache & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

NEW YORK, April 26—Liverpool prices were lower this morning, as was generally expected. Our market opened at a decline of about 4 points and ruled very steady all day with a very dull tone. There were no features, and there is still little disposition to buy owing to the large stocks and small demand for spot. We think cotton chean on its merit, and favor the lone. think cotton cheap on its merits, and favor the long side of the market.

THE CHICAGO MARKET

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, April 25—In the wheat pit at the start cables came steady and there was a good deal of business done, but the trade seems hesitating and cautious, and the market lacked animation. But denials of anything serious in the financial situation were telegraphed, and the rains were reported over. Rumsey and Chandler had big selling orders from somebody, putting it nearly a million July, which had a depressing effect. Pardridge was a good buyer on the break. The clique was a good buyer of July all day, but showed no aggressiveness, and seemed desirous of getting as much as it could without causing excitement. Later in the day reports of rain in Burope, the contitionent and Kansas and bank failures in Australia renewed the disposition to seil freely. However, the market closed fairly steady. The local receipts of 482 cars, containing 180,000 bushels of contract wheat, was a bearish item in view of the great increase of 812,000 bushels of contract wheat in Chicago houses for the week. This puts the total of the end of the third week in April at 13,760.00 bushels, and indicates about 14,500,000 bushels probable by the May delivery day. July opened about his one fluctuations of Ng, held the declined with some fluctuations of Ng, held week and declined with some fluctuations of Ng, held week and declined with some fluctuations of Ng, held week and the closing was \( \frac{1}{2} \text{del cover in a preparation of the price of Ng, Ng, benner is attracting more attention, while held of the receipts were 184 cars, instead of 330, as had been properly and the cooling was \( \frac{1}{2} \text{del cover in a popular of the price of the Ng, C. CHICAGO, April 25.—The heavy sales of July wheat yesterday around 75c. had a depressing effect on the market today. Prices were steady the forepart of the session, owing to continued unfavorable "crop reports, some of which come from the northwest, claiming that the season is now becoming rather backward. Later the market gave way, owing to lack of support and reported lower prices abroad. The closing markets abroad, however, were somewhat irregular. Berlin and Antwerp higher, Phris lower, Liverpool lower for futures, higher for spots. The slight decline in Paris is due to the light rains in the drought regions. The strength in Berlin is probably due to the continued drought. There is a good demand for No. 3 red winter for export on French account. This demand will be heavier or will decrease according to the prospects for growing crops in France. There was a fairly good demand for coarse grains at nominally unchanged prices. Corn about 1-4c. lower with a liberal movement. The advance of $1 per barrel in mess pork, which we predicted on the 19th instant, has already reached $1.50 without any signs of weakness yet. During the past week we have warned our customers against selling September pork or lard short so long as the demand was so good and hogs so scarce. We are in hopes however, that the present advance and the clearing up of the weather will bring out more hogs and probably supply the legitimate demand at least. It may be the speculative futures will continue to advance until the shorts have provided for their contracts.

Judge Andy Calhoun Confronted with a He Works His Old Dodge, Claiming to Problem in Human Nature.

YOUNG WOMAN WITH A TEMPER

Gets In o Trouble—She Pussles the Judge and Is Frightened Into Hysterics by the Noise of the Prison.

A blushing young maiden in a red frock and a lively little spring bonnet adorned with Easter ribbons and all that, whose only fault was an excessively hot temper, furnished Judge Andy Calhoun about the most difficult problem in human nature that he has tackled since the beginning of his invisitation.

Judge Andy Calhoun is distinctly a philosopher. He has made the study of human nature a pursuit of pleasure, and the stock of valuable and unique information he has in that line would have made Charles Dickens or Mr. Thackery cavious. The judge knows all about little negroes, and big negroes and middle-sized negroes, and he can tell with the exactness of a trained novelist what they will do under a given set of cir-cumstances, but he is put to his wits when a pretty young girl, evidently not a bit deprayed or bad, but who has an unconreliable and ungovernable temper which frequently breaks out and makes the family circle fairly tremble by its vigorous manifestation, comes before him for disturbing the peace of the community in which she

the peace of the community in which she lives.

Yesterday he was confronted by such a puzzle, and Lula Burge, a young woman sixteen years old, furnished it. It was not the first time, however, that she has been before the judge, but her second appearance does not signify that she is a bad girl, given to wicked ways.

About two weeks ago, Judge Calhoun was surprised when a fair faced young woman, well-dressed and whose general appearance was conclusive evidence that she was of a respectable class. She blushed modestly, and seeing the curious gaze of the crowd fixed upon her, hung her head in shame. She had been arrested for giving one of her characteristic performances of temper. She had exploded her wrath, and the result was a disturbed neighborhood. It was proven that she was noisy, while she was nice.

She was too nice a girl to fine and Judge.

had exploded her wrath, and the result was a disturbed neighborhood. It was proven that she was noisy, while she was nice.

She was too nice a girl to fine, and Judge Calhoun let her go with a few words of wholesome advice on the subject of self-control, and the bad effects of letting one's temper have its way. Yesterday morning he was surprised to see her appear before him again on a similar charge. He expressed his regret and the young woman told him that she was sorry but that she just couldn't help it, that her temper would get the best of her at times, and she asked for mercy. But the judge could not let her go this time.

"You have, undoubtedly, done what is charged against you, and this time I must fine you for it."

The young woman said she hadn't a cent to pay a fine. It was plain to the judge and to everybody that it would never do to send the young female to the city stockade. The judge bit the end of his official pen in a perplexed way.

"I can't send you to the stockade," said be, "and yet you are guilty of the charge and something should be done with you. I will give you three days in the police station, and maybe that will cure you."

And so the young woman was hustled down to a cell where she was told she would have to make her home for three days. She wept and mourned during the afternoon. Late in the afternoon and dwoman, drunk and cursing in the vilest manner was brought into the prison and lecked into a cell adjoining that of Miss Burge. The drunk woman raved and shricked and struggled vaining that of Miss Burge. The drunk woman raved and shricked and struggled vaining that of Miss Burge. The drunk woman raved and shricked from fright. The turnkey went to her ceil to quiet her. "Let me out, let me out," she shricked." I will die in here." Her fright was not feigned and the turnkey feeling a pity for the young creature went to Judge Calhoun and told him of her fright; Judge Calhoun and told him of her fright; Judge Calhoun went to the cell to see for himself.

But Many Honest Workingmen, Who Say He Got the Best of Them, Are Talking of Having Him Brought Back.

S. Garlington Leak has been at his old S. Garlington Leak has been at his old ugly tricks again, and so strong and persistent has grown the demand for him that he has gone to Chicago to escape the importunities of his victims and to evade the consequences of his disagreeable fame.

For a brief period of four or five months he has been hidden from public view and the police have been given a rest. It was thought from his absence from the police records and proceedings that he had made records and proceedings that he had made good his many declarations of a purpose to reform and lead a life devoted to higher pursuits, but is seems now that his seeming good behavior was as misleading as it was Leak is a poet by nature, and it is an old dodge of his to recite in touching verse a noble inclination and purpose to unfetter himself from the shackles of wrong-doing himself from the shackles of wrong-doing and lead a career that would end with honor and fame. With dewy eyes and quivering lips he has solemnly asserted his determination to do better, and his touching appeals have often touched those who had the power to secure his release, and it has occurred not once but often that he has thus secured his liberty when the charges against him looked very black indeed.

he has thus secured his liberty when the charges against him looked very black indeed.

Leak has not been in police court since he was brought there for engaging in a big row, at which time the pathetic story of his "busted" boarding house came to light and got into print. When he emerged from the stockade after that, he announced that henceforth he would lead a better life.

But if the charges reported to the police during thelast two days are true, he has signally failed to carry out his expressed intention. Two or three days ago Mr. Cabaniss, of The Journal, reported to Chief Connolly that Leak had been collecting money for subscriptions for his paper without having the authority to do so. Chief Connolly ordered the arrest of Leak, but the story of his doings was not half told. Since then many workingmen have reported at headquarters that Leak had been to them representing himself to be a representative of numerous papers in the state and had collected subscriptions from them in wholesale quantities.

Most of the men who were victimized were railroad men, and from them Leak collected over one hundred dollars. It is believed that this sum will not half cover the amounts collected by him. It is thought that he victimized many whose names will never be known, and many who have not yet discovered that they are his victims. A movement has been started among the victimized railroad men to have Leak brought back to Atlanta from Chicago. It has been learned that he left for the Windy City on last Sunday night.

The entire police and detective force has been looking for Leak for the past three or four days.

AN EFFORT MADE TO GET REDWINE.

Dr. Greene Decides That He is Not Well Enough to Go-Confined to His Room in Hotel Fulton.

Still the end is not, and in order to drag out a few more weary days, and draw pay, the grand jury adjourned yesterday after noon until tomorrow morning.

A large number of witnesses were examined with great repidity, and for the time being the grand jury was hard at work, but the witness that Colonel James wants more than all others is still on the wick list.

For the past week or two, the district attorney has been trying to get Redwine be-fore the grand jury, but without any success as he plead sickness and was allowed to remain in his room at Hotel Fulton. It is also known that the attorneys of Red-wine are averse to allowing their client to testify, and have refused to let him make a clean breast of the entire affair as he has wine are averse to allowing their client to testify, and have refused to let him make a clean breast of the entire affair as he has stated time and again he desired to do.

Yesterday morning Colonel James was fully determined to have Redwine appear before the grand jury if he was in any condition to do so. Redwine's attorneys stated that their client was too ill to come and Redwine himself said he was feeling very muchly under the weather. This did not satisfy Colonel James, however, and he sent for Dr. Clem Greene, who is the United States physician for the jail, and told that gentleman to call on Redwine alld make a thorough examination of his physical or mental ailments. Accompanying Dr. Greene was Dr. William P. Nicholson, and the two visited Redwine at the jail. According to the testimony of both doctors before the grand jury. Redwine is very sick, and while he is not in a serious condition by any means, it was deemed unwise to bring him from the jail to the federal building. The testimony of the physicians, of course, settled the matter of Redwine's testifying, and Colonel James said that he would not, acting under the advise of experts, have Redwine brought before the grand jury. He stated that, however, if the physicians had reported him in a favorable condition, he would have had him to testify.

The attorneys of Redwine might have objected to this in due time, however, and a very interesting legal fight might have ensued between Colonel Hammond and Colonel James.

In the meantime, while awaiting the report of Dr. Greene, the grand jury was not idle. The first witness in the morning was Captain Robert Lowry, who is president of the Clearing House Association. His testimony was along the line of how the banks settled up between each other after a day's business, and he remained in the jury room nearly an hour.

Mr. Porter Woodson, of the Merchants' bank, was recalled and made some additional statements to the jury. He remained in the jury room only a very short while.

The other witnesses were as per th

To Those Who Own and Lease Houses. A roof of a house is so situated in many instances that it is completely out of the sight of the owner, and consequently out of mind.

sight of the owner, and consequently out of mind.

He thinks that all is well until the rain begins to go through and in many instances causes a damage bill to be presented by the tenant or lessed. And in all probability the owner is now forced to the expense of having the house recovered. This is applicable to both metal and shingle roofs.

We can, by painting these roofs, obviate this trouble and expense. We take an old shingle roof and not only make it handsome in appearance, but stop the decay of the thingles and render it absolutely fire and water proof and make it resemble the nicer quality of state. Nearly every day we read where the fire department has been called out to some burning roof. We will in every instance obviate this danger and trouble by an application of our paints. The formulas of these goods are known only to us and we are the sole manufacturers of them.

The formulas of these goods are known only to us and we are the sole manufacturers of them.

When you patronize us we take absolute control of your roof in every instance till the term of our guarantee expires.

The landlord or property owner is not hunted down and worried with complaints from tenants, but should there be cause for complaint it is made directly to us. We know that we have a paint which far exceeds in every respect any ever offered to our people before. These are facts which we know, too, will be impressed on the minds of every patron. A good many have told us that they had been badly imposed upon by strangers and transients who, after doing the work with tar, pitch and inferior materials generally, then give a guarantee for so many years and then leave for parts unknown never to return. We are home people and have added this to Atlanta's many enterprises and look to Atlanta to sustain us. We are building up our business on first-class principles and striving to merit the confidence of the people. It matters not what your roof needs, let us examine and fix it. If your roof is not protected, let us use our unexcelled roofing paint on it at once.

ATLANTA ROOFING COMPANY,

New Business.

That Atlanta is rapidly becoming the very heart of this entire sunny south is being demonstrated every day, and it is not only the railroad center, but it is also the distributing point of all the large manu-

Not many moons ago a thread company announced that in the future Atlanta would be the distributing point for them, and that they would establish a headquarters to which all the thread would be shipped in bulk, and distributed from here to the entire southern section. The announcement of this move had hardly been given out when there was news that a second large thread company would make their headquarters in the Gate City. And the second factory is hardly less large than the first one. On the heels of all this is a rumor that a third thread company, not to be outdone, will establish distributing quarters here and will employ a large clerical force. Two of the three thread companies, the Clarke and the Contes companies, have already secured a building and shipments of thread will commence at once.

The Clarke Company will open a distributing house here for the south Atlantic states. The thread of this company is made in Holland and in America, and every inch of the thread is made out of Georgia long staple cotton. The Clarke company claims that it makes the best thread in the world and the cotton used is the best kind for the purpose. In the thread works there are 10,000 hands employed. The annual business of the company runs up into the millons of dollars. In the branch office here, there will, of course, be a large clerical force, as the business will be extensive and there is room for both companies. The headquarters will probably be in the wholesale store of the Kiser Company.

The J. P. Coates Company has some thing like $20,000,000 invested, and about $4,000,000 would cover the output of this factory. The headquarters of this company are situated in Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago and soon will be in Atlanta. A portion of the fine, new building on Broad street, the first floor of which will be occupied by the Beck & Gregg hardware store, will be the headquarters of the Coates company, and the territory covered will be Georgia, Tennessee, South Carolina and Alabama.

The third company has not yet fully decided upon establishing headquarters here, but it is safe to say that the managers are too enterprising to allow other thread com panies to step in and block some of the finest territory in the United States.

The move on the part of the thread companies is a good one, both for the companies and for Atlanta, and it will add to the income of trade.

The Spleen

—not the ill-humor you feel like venting upon some offender, but the spleen near the stomach, which supplies the proper amount of blood to the stomach during digestion. But both are affected by a torpid liver. The principal object of the Evangelical ministers' meeting was to institute a daily prayer meeting, to be located somewhere in the city, near the center. The daily services would be from 12 to 1 o'clock. The following resolution, introduced by Rev. Dr. Heidt, embodies the entire idea:

"Resolved, That the Evangelical Ministers' Association heartily approve of the plan to establish a daily union prayer meeting extending from 12 to 1 o'clock.

"2. That Professor W. W. Lumpkin, W. A. Hemphill, W. S. Bell, A. P. Stewart, J. F. Beck and E. S. Gay be appointed a committee to make all necessary details, and enlarge the committee if decuded necessary."

rful Change in 3 Days. Cured in Weeks. Now 15 Months Old With Perfect Skin.

With Porfect Skin.

The first I noticed that my baby had anything the matter with her was that whenever the nurse would change her she would cry. After the nurse left I noticed how very red she was. I spoke of it to the doctor, and he told me to use zinc ointment, but it did not do her any good. In a short time Eczema broke out on her head, spread to her eyebrows, breast and back, but the doctor's Aemedies did not seem to have any effect. I thought I would try your Cuti-cura Remedies, as I had lost one child with the Eczema before I had heard of them. I am glad to say your Cutieura Remedies worked wonders with my baby. Three days after I commenced using them I saw a change. The doctor was surprised. I then told him what I was using. She was, only three weeks old when Eczema broke out, and when she was eight weeks old she was entirely cured by Cuticura. She is now fifteen months old, and has a perfect skin, portrait enclosed. Every one asks what makes her skin so fair, and I tell them Cuticura.

BUSY DAY FOR THE BOYS

And a Rousing Banquet Last Night at the Kimball House-Another Meeting Today.

There was never a merrier set of fellows gathered at a banquet board than the Southern Hardware Jobbers, who feasted at the Kimball house last night.

Their third annual convention opened with a business session at the Kimball yesterday when it was found that a good at-tendance was on hand and that the meeting was a success from the very outset. The business session began at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and it was a very profitable ses-

At 11 o'clock the convention adjourned in respect to the memory of Atlanta's dis-tinguished hardware dealer, Mr. R. C. Clarke, whose death was chronicled in The Constitution yesterday.

The following resolution was passed by the convention in honor of the dead brother hardware merchant.

In Memoriam

The following resolutions on the death of Mr. Robert C. Clarke were read and unan-of Mr. Robert C. Clarke were read and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, On the eve of assembling in this our third annual meeting, in the city of Atlanta, we learn with profound sorrow and regret of the death of our esteemed friend and brother hardware merchant, Mr. R. C. Clarke, secretary and treasurer of the Clarke Hardware Company, of Atlanta, Ga., a member of this association; therefore, be it Resolved, That the Southern Hardware Johbers' Association tender the family of our deceased brother, and the corporation of which he was a faithful and efficient member, our deepest and heart-felt sympathies and condolence in this hour of their sorrow and affliction.

Similar resolutions of sympathy were passed on the death of Mr. Tom Stokes, of the King Hardware Company. They All tot Plows.

In the afternoon the delegates to the convention all went driving and visited by special invitation the Southern Agricultural works, of this city. While there they were presented with miniature plows made by the company as an advertisement of a special kind of patent they have recently issued.

They all expressed great admiration at the extensive scope and perfect style of the great Atlanta factory and were much the great Atlanta-factory and were much pleased with their visit, seemingly.

Returing to the Kimball later at night they went back to the parlors assigned them by the hotel for their business meetings and held another meeting. Business of interest to the association was transacted till late in the afternoon when the convention adjourned till the banquet hour.

Last Night's Banquet.

I was a brilliant banquet, the Hardware Jobbers Association of the south gave at the Kanball last night.

They were all there—every one of them, of course, and they were every one in for a good time.

The spread was a delightful one, and the manner in which it was served fully up to date. Those fellows lived life over again, too, that's what they did. They lived it over from the time the first jacknives were bought in boyhood till the last hardware jobber's nall was driven into the coffin; yes, it was a full life they lived, around that banquet table.

Many were the informal speeches that were ade and many the happy hits that went and the circle. Following was the menu of Sliced Tomatoes.

ORDER

Atlanta Odd Fellows Will Jubilate at De Give's Opera House Tonight-Programme of Exercises.

American Odd Fellowship is seventy-four years old today, and in Atlanta the members of the noble order will fitly celebrate the anniversary.

The order was born in England longer ago than seventy-four years, but just that many years ago today it made its debut in this country. From a very sickly infant it grew and developed until now it is one of the strongest of the secret orders. When it first saw the light in America, the conditions for its growth were not very en-couraging and like nearly everything in its first stages, it developed slowly. But its constitution was strong and the American climate was adapted to its growth and it grew strong and spread until it now num-bers its members in every part of this contibers its members in every part of this continent.

The history of the order in Atlanta is almost as old as the history of the city itself, it first having been organized here in 1847. Since that time the order has been popular here, and now there are 1,200 Odd Fellows of good standing in the city, and about as many more who are members, but who have not kept up their dues.

These 1,200 are the ones who will appropriately jubilate and be glad tonight, because seventy-four years ago the noble order was imported to this country. They are among the very best citizens of the city, and comprise many of the leading men of Atlanta. Mayor Goodwin is an honored member and has several times been given office in the order.

or and has several times been given once in the order.

The anniversary exercises will be held at DeGive's opera house and will be largely attended. There is a ritualistic exercise to be gone through with, and it will be first on the programme, as it will be in every Odd Fellowship celebration in American today. Besides the prescribed exercise the committee on arrangements, composed of Will H. tee on arrangements, composed of Will H. Pope, E. J. Corliss and J. A. Hynds, has prepared a list of speakers for the occasion. Wurm's orchestra will furnish music.

The programme will be:

G. Thrower, of this city.—C. A. # Worth Thinking About.

WHEN YOU WANT A LAWYER, do you ask all the attorneys that you know to "make a bid" and then employ the sheapest? Do you not rather look for the attorney whose skill, knowledge of the law and personal character will protect your interest?

WHY DOES NOT THE SAME IDEA apply to other WHY DOES NOT THE SAME IDEA apply to other lines of business where confidence becomes a factor in your dealings, for instance, in the purchase of a Watch or a Diamond? It cannot be denied that considering quality and price one yard of cloth may be dear at four cents, another cheap at twenty. Now, to determine the question of cheepoess we must consider:

1st The standing of the establishment which sells the watch.

Al The value of the guarantee to the purchaser of the watch of the dear of the watch.

3d The acknowledged merits of the watch offered.

THE NEW GEOLOGIST.

W. S. Yeates, a North Carolinian, Gets the Geological Plum.

HE WAS APPOINTED YESTERDAY

Other News at the Capitol of Georgia-What Happens There from Day to Day.

W. S. Yates is the new state geologist. The governor appointed him yesterday, and he was wired the news immediately. He will come to Atlanta without any de lay and enter upon the duties of the office.
Professor Yates is a well-known scientist and his reputation as a geologist is all that could be asked to qualify him for the posi-tion to which the governor of Georgia has appointed him.

He is a native of North Carolina and is a comparatively young man. He has been out of college about ten years, and has devoted himself to the sciences ever since he left his university. He comes with the highest recommendations from the New Jersey college of sciences, and also from the Smithsonian institute, with which he has been connected for several years as a teacher of geolological science.

He graduated in 1878, but has been a hard student of the sciences much of the time since then. In 1881 he was made assistant scientist in the department of miner als and economic geology in the United States national museum and a month afterwards was placed in charge of the min-eral collection of the department. Since the death of the curator he has had immediate charge of the department, and his work has been such as has brought him in close study with all manner of minerals, ores, gems and semi-precious stones. He is a thorough scientist and a prac tical geologist. The governor expects him to come to The governor expects him to come to Atlanta very soon to enter upon the work of the department which has been so sadly neglected lately. His appointment by the governor was confirmed by all the members of the board yesterday at a meeting held for that purpose. No action was taken by the board with reference to the election of his assistants, it being deemed advisable that this should not be done until the principal geologist strives and is til the principal geologist arrives and is consulted in the matter. It will be the endeavor of the board to make things in the geological board move along more smoothly than heretofore and for this rea-son the chief geologist will be consulted as son the chief geologist will be consulted as to the best men to place under him as his assistants.

The governor says he has been petitioned by the citizens of northeast Georgia to have the report of Mr. Whatley, the former assistant geologist, published, as it is the only work that bears upon the region in which they are interested. He says that he will leave it with the new geologist whether it ought to be published or not, there having been some sort of doubt in the mind of Dr. Spencer the former geologist. mind of Dr. Spencer, the former geologist, whether it was proper information to be published.

important order that bears directly upon the burning of the negro in southern Georgia not many days ago, and has a special tendency to show how the governor is down upon this thing of lynching.

It will be remembered that not many days ago Mr. Bob Burnett was shot and killed by an unknown person while he was asleen in his store. A posse was soon on track of the murderer and he was caught and tied to a tree and burned to death.

The governor was much mortified at the action of the mob and inquired into the particulars of the incident. He is satisfied that there was nothing to warrant such conduct and has issued the following order, which was vesterday recorded upon the books at the statehouse:

State of Georgia, Executive Department: Atlanta, Ga., April 25, 1893.—Whereas, Official information has been received at this department that on the 13th of April, in the county of Quitman, a murder was committed under circumstances of great atrocity by a band of lawless men upon the body of a negro man, name unknown.

It is ordered that the secretary of state record and issue a proclamation offering a reward of $200 each for the arrest and delivery of said malefactors, with proof sufficient to convict, to the sheriff of Quitman county.

Mr. Furlow's Appointment.

The recent appointment of Mr. J. W. Furlow to West Point military academy was a high compliment to a very deserving young man. He is well connected and is one of the brightest young men in Georgia. He is at/present a student at the Technological school here in Atlanta and is regarded as one of the most promising young students at the school. He is a brother to Captain Charley Furlow, of the comptroller general's office at the capitol, and if he makes half the good soldier that Charley did when he ran away to go to war, the youngest soldier in the ranks, he will be doing well, indeed.

The Macon and Birmingham Case.

Yesterday the comptroller general assessed the Macon and Birmingham railroad for its taxes to the state. The road gave in its taxable property just half this year as last. This did not satisfy Captain Wright. He double it in the assessment.

To th Intelligent Smoker.

Owing to the ircreased demand for my clear Havana cigars I have decided to bring more cigar makers from Cuba, and have removed my factory to No. 5 Broad street, where I have better facilities. My long and intimate knowledge of the business in Havana, where I was connected for seventeen years with the largest cigar factory, enables me to know the best of tobacco as well as the knowledge of how to manufacture. I select the best leaf tobacco personally in the best districts of Cuba and bring it direct to the Atlanta custom house. Employing the most skilled workmen, thereby making a cigar equal to the best imported, with a cost of 50 per cent cheaper, owing to the difference in the tariff. I will be pleased to have all the smokers call at my factory to inspect the making of them and the material used.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla at all seasons. In the Spring, it removes that tired feeling, cleanses and vitalizes the circulation, and prepares one to successfully contend with the debilitating effects of the heated term. In the Summer, it quickens the appetite, regulates the liver, and makes the weak strong. In the Autumn, it tones up the nerves and protects the system from malarial influences. In the Winter, it enriches the blood, and invigorates every organ and tissue of the body.

Sarsaparilla is the best all-the-year-round medicine you can find. It expels the poison of Scrofula and Catarrh and the acid that causes Rheumatism. It makes food nourishing, work pleasant, sleep refreshing, and life enjoyable. It is the Superior Medicine. Miss A. L. Collins, Dighton, Mass., writes: "For five years, I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla each spring and fall and received wonderful benefit from it." George Gay, 70 Cross St., Centre Falls, R.
